“Joining Us In Creative Expression” (JUICE) is a student managed, afterschool program for creative students at Apponequett High School. The mission of JUICE is to provide interested and willing students a friendly atmosphere where creative learning and expression can take place. JUICE is not an afterschool art course, but a community where the world of creation and expression through drawing can be explored.

Every meeting, sketchbooks will be exchanged, and attendees will critique each other’s drawings. Following the “Sketchbook Roundtable” there will be a series of “FUNtivities” where games will be played that present challenging, but personally rewarding prompts for imaginative drawing. “SERIOUStivities”, which take place afterwards, will explore the technical and ever important skill of drawing from life. Although the main emphasis of JUICE is on drawing, many other activities will be considered, including, but not limited to, collaborative installations, videos, animation, as well as visual and design work for other school related clubs and organizations.

The JUICE organization will not only benefit the students by preparing them for a collegiate art education, but could help the school by producing well designed stationary, flyers, or even school store merchandise.

Formation

Upon the formation of this organization, I agree to be the student advisor, and to allow the students use of the art room and it's supplies on days that I specify, provided that they clean up and are fully responsible.

Mr. Edmund Dobrowsky
Art Department Head

I acknowledge the formation of this student organization, and trust the creators as being responsible for it's well-being.

Mr. Gary Lincoln
Principal

Creation

Created and proposed by Neil Fitzgerald, Jeffrey Scudder, and Abraham Edelman. October 2006.
